A Platform to Buy In and Sell Out

Auction is the process of Buying / Selling / Lease of goods or services by offering them for bidding and then selling to the highest bidder or buying the item from the lowest bidder. Auction is the second largest methodology adopted after tendering, amongst the various ways by which the government conducts its procurement activities.

National Informatics Centre, MeitY, Govt has developed a generic electronic auction (eAuction) platform to facilitate various kind on online Auctions. It is offered in Platform As a Service model in <https://eauction.gov.in> and provides immediate on boarding facility.

Auctions which have been successfully conducted are from diverse context like forest :

- Goods (Timber, Trees) • Forest Produce (Fruits, Tendu patta, Honey) • Liquor shops allocation • Sand, Livestock • Residential & Commercial plots • Shops by (mandis/ authorities/ metros) • Selling of scraps (Vehicle/ Electrical/ Furniture) • Allocation of power • Others include Daily/Weekly Bazar, Festival urus collection.

Testimonials

eAuction Platform of NIC has transformed the auctioning process in the Chandigarh Administration/Municipal Corporation, Chandigarh. It has eliminated the human interface in the bidding process thereby making it very convenient for public authorities as well as the bidders. It has changed the attitude of the participants towards the administration. It has resulted in increase of revenue up to 10 times which exemplifies even the financial advantage eAuction has to offer. It is strongly recommended that public authorities needing auction process adopt this eAuction platform offered by NIC. — Sanjay Kumar Jha, Ias Secretary - Chandigarh Ut Administration

Allotment of land in Jawaharlal Nehru Port Trust (JNPT) is carried out through e-tender cum e-auction process of NIC. The process has resulted in delivery of a safe transparent way of e-auction for the bidders and due to such robust trustworthy and transparent system as such JNPT is able to see the participation of few international investors in one of such e-auction process, this has resulted in appreciation of SEZ land value to a considerable extent (nearly 6 times above the reserve price). JNPT is happy to see that NIC is driving its initiative to new height by way of introducing e-auction a separate portal. JNPT wishes the NIC team all the best and success for their progressive work. — Sunilkumar V Madabhavi, Chief Manager (Port Planning & Development) - Jawaharlal Nehru Port Trust (JNPT), Mumbai

Dynamic environment, Transparent, User Friendly and has fetched Higher prices. — Dilip Kumar Bakshi, General Manager (C) - West Bengal Housing Infrastructure Development Corporation

E-auction of tendu leaves boosts coffer
 The sale of tendu leaves through the e-tendering process has generated significant revenue for the state forest department.
 The state government has so far collected Rs 51.78 crore during the first phase of the e-tendering process for FY2019-20, almost triple the gross revenue collected through the manual system during FY2014-15. The department had collected Rs 18.32 crore in sale and purchase of tendu leaves through the manual system.
 "Apart from ensuring transparency between the department and applicants, the e-tendering system has helped us generate good revenue. It brings up-to-date the gross revenue collection of the department may contribute to completion to other 'good-collections', said managing director of the Jharkhand State Forest Development Corporation (JSFDC), R Singh.
 While the process for the second tender is on, the first tender of the fiscal will end by the first week of March. The department had to open 11 phased tenders to sell off 200 tons in 2015. This time around, three phased tenders will be enough," said Singh.
 According to information from the Singh unit of JSFDC, the total revenue collection during the first phase touched Rs 1.22 crore, as against the gross revenue collection of around Rs 42 lakh during 2014-15.
 "We did not expect such a lustrous monetary boost, since most areas of the region are dominated by tobacco. Poor quality
